NOTED ACTRESS
TO REPRESENT
UNITED STATES

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Lillian Russell sailed for Europe today as special agent for Uncle Sam, commissioned to look over intended immigrants to America and to report to Secretary of Labor Davis on her return. The American beauty, who now is Mrs. Alexander P. Moore, wife of the editor of the Pittsburgh Leader, was accompanied by her husband, who also is to investigate the foreign immigration situation. "Mr. Davis wants me to look into the human side of the immigration problem," she said. "He has known for a long time of my interest in these poor people who come here only to be turned back because of some defect. One thing I want to find out is why passports of delinquents are issued at all and why they are ever allowed to embark on a journey that ends in disappointment. The fault lies on the other side, not here."

CROW LESSEES
SENDING OUT
SPLENDID ORE

A test shipment of a little more than five tons of ore that was made from the lease being operated on the Crow claim at Royton by Lindsay and associates brought a settlement of $65 a ton. This ore was extracted in sinking a shaft and in doing other necessary development, and the values were almost in keeping with the assay returns previously reported. The product was delivered at the MacNamara mill for treatment.

On the Miner lease on the Crow claim a splendid showing is reported as being in evidence. A fine stream of high-grade ore is showing, and the vein matter, taken as a whole, is expected to bring a mill settlement averaging around $50 a ton. A depth of about 40 feet has been attained, and in the event the oreshoot proves to be persistent to any great depth, then it is assured that a substantial reduction will follow.

GOOD VALUES
REALIZED ON ORLEANS ORE

During the month of December 100 tons of ore were shipped from the Orleans mine of the Orleans Horseshoe Mining company, which carried average values of $33 a ton, according to figures given out by Manager A. L. D'Arcy. This ore was extracted in advancing the southeast drift from the 700 level, and in addition there was placed on the "suspense" dump 275 tons of ore worth $19.65 a ton.

Conditions at this gold property, which has attracted the attention of some of the largest mining operators in the west, are most satisfactory. Drilling of the southeast drift from the 700 level will be continued indefinitely, according to an official statement, and the fact that a big body of ore is showing on both the footwall and hanging-wall makes a most interesting condition.

Now that connection has been made between both the 700 and 600 and 600 and 500 levels, the scope of operations can be gradually broadened which will permit of the opening of ore reserves to insure the continuous operation of the new milling plant which is to be erected early in the spring.

WITNESSES FAIL TO RECOLLECT BODIES
BURIED WITH ROPE

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 17.—Former service men detailed for duty with the American graves registration service in France denied before the senate investigating committee today that bodies of soldiers legally put to death in France were buried with a slab of rope around their necks and the black cap which had been placed on them on the gallows. George A. Hamford, of Washington, and John R. Flynn, of Cambridge, Mass., testified that they had heard of nothing to substantiate such charges. Flynn declared that Rufus P. Hubbard, of New York, who had testified that he saw bodies with the ropes and caps intact, was a "trouble maker" who had been transferred on that account.

Disagreeing with the previous witnesses, Richard C. Sullivan, of Somerville, Mass., declared he saw two bodies taken up with the rope and black cap intact. "Was there any evidence that the heart and brain were removed from the bodies of the men hanged?" asked Senator Watson. "I did not notice."

Edwin E. Lamb, of Hartford, Conn., a lieutenant colonel with the expeditionary forces, was called. "Did you witness any executions in France?" "Yes, two, at Bazailles. Both were court-martialed," he said. The condemned men were given opiates before hanging to compose their nerves, the witness declared. In the case of the second man hanged, I think the body was placed quickly in the coffin with the rope and cap still on it," Lamb admitted.

It is stated that in the shaft workings a big body of high-grade gold-bearing ore has been encountered. Work has been in progress in the development of the Portland property for quite a long time, and it is the intention of Mr. Witt to proceed with the opening of ore reserves that ample material may be available to insure a heavy tonnage of ore being marketed during the spring and summer.
